Signs, Parking, Resignation Highlights At City Council Meeting

Sefton Retires

"I'd rather stay in Carmel to see what the new Council has accomplished rather than not be here at all . . . it's just that serious," Councilman William Sefton sadly stated when announcing his resignation from the Carmel City Council last night. This bore out pre-election rumors. Mr. Sefton's poor health prompted his resignation and his doctor's strong recommendation that he do so made his decision final. Several months ago he collapsed while on a Tree Tour with the Council.

Councilman Sefton was beginning his third year on the Council and during that time he served as Police Commissioner, chairman of the Parking Committee and member of the Lands and Improvements Committee. He should be commended for his tireless work on the Cable TV Ordinance which required many, many hours of work and study in and out of Council.

The Council will meet today at 4:00 p.m. to decide whether to hold a special election or appoint a Councilman to occupy Mr. Sefton's unexpired term. If appointments are made it is rumored that Ken Brown, owner of the Village Inn, stands in the number one position.

Student Exchange A Possibility

"Many of our students would welcome the experience of spending a semester at Seaside High School to get a feeling of what it is like to live in a different environment before entering the business world," Superintendent Dr. Harris J. Taylor told the school board last night. Consequently, the district will look into the possibilities of an even exchange of students who would like to make this experiment.

An overall plan must be worked out, Dr. James Halcomb, curriculum committee chairman, told the board whereby the science program at each level is coordinated and teachers assigned time to work this out. There is much overlapping of texts in science and social studies at every level, he said. In English, the major problem, he said, was lack of communication between departments at different levels, between the schools, and between teachers and administration. In some classes the committee found practically no classroom music, in others more, he reported.

He urged adoption of the Basic Course of Study as revised this summer, to satisfy legal requirements, to be supplemented by the Math committee recommendations that each step be made clear at every level, from kindergar-

Take To Air In Spite Of Fog

Middle School Earth Science students were able to get a real understanding of weather patterns and microclimates, see how the Salinas River had meandered from its original riverbed, and get a graphic picture of alluvial fans as a result of their plane field trip last Friday via Air West Airlines.

There were squeals of delight as the jet planee left the ground, for many had not been in the air before. Fears were dissipated that the overcast day would hide the ground when the sun broke through the clouds.

The children plastered their noses against the windows; their science teacher, Albert Kolb, who was in the cockpit, kept up a running commentary on what they were seeing from each side of the plane. His first talks were weather-oriented due to the fog and each trip revealed something different.

The well-behaved youngsters, 40 each on five flights, were accompanied by Mr. Henry Chapple, vice-principal, who had handled all the logistics of the preliminary exploration of the idea, setting up time schedules of the flights, bus connections, as well as the fees and parental consents. Mr. Herbert Reuters, the other science teacher, and Mr. Orville Rogers, Middle School principal, also took turns accompanying the field trip.

The pretty airline hostess gave the same attentive service to the children as she does to her usual passengers on the attractively decorated and comfortable turbo-jet plane.

Much of the Council's time last night was spent discussing parking problems and sign types and colors.

It began when Councilman Herbert Blanks wanted a reason for removal of the green and white highway signs advertising free parking at Sunset Center.

Newly-elected Councilman Frank Falge answered, admitting that he had initiated the action by getting the majority of the Council's approval. His actions were based on the popular opinion that the signs were not in good taste for Sunset Center. Falge said that a more rustic sign, not a highway sign, should be erected.

Councilman Blanks recollected that when the signs were approved by the Council, there was a "political struggle as to the use of Sunset" and that the Council put them there temporarily. Blanks said that until there was proof that such signs were to be permanent more expensive signs should not be considered. He suggested that the signs be left there until the Council decides on the permanency of them.

The Planning Commission two weeks ago indicated their desire for the removal and did not want "highway signs" advertising Sunset Center.

The end resulted in Councilman Falge's offer to take the problem in hand and offer a solution at the next meeting. It was turned over to the Lands and Improvements Committee of which Falge and Councilman Eben Whittlesey are members.

Parking

The Parking Committee, with assistance from Planning Commission members, made a study of existing parking spaces in the Central business district and the fringe residential districts. In essence the committee recommended that the commercial district be contained and individuals encouraged to develop underground parking.

Councilman William Sefton, a representative on the committee, said they are asking the Council and the Planning Commission to get out and get the job done. "It's the most serious problem facing our Council at this time," Sefton said.

The very next item on the agenda pertained to solving at least part of the parking problem. The Committee on Lands and Improvements recommended that the Council urge the Library Board to approve turning over their lot adjacent to the Library for use as a parking lot . . . temporarily, that is, until the Library decides what to do with their property.

4-Way Stop Sign

If you have noticed the 4-way stop sign at Ocean and Carpenter, the reason for it is because there have been a number of accidents at that intersection. They were put there as an emergency measure but were made permanent and official last night.

A resolution (and sign) was approved making it now unlawful to park along the West side of San Antonio and Fourth. Again, there were too many accidents at this point.

Still another resolution was before the Council, this one calling for making Scenic Drive one-way going South. Councilman Blanks' motion to hold informal hearings for property owners on June 5 was approved.

Truck route directional signs were held up until the Lands and Improvements Committee can report on the type and color sign necessary.

Leash Law

Last month's proposed Ordinance calling for a leash law on Carmel Beach, died for lack of a second. However, not wanting to see it gone forever, the Council referred the question back to the committee on Public Welfare, the originators of the ordinance. Sefton said, "We should have a leash law, and during budget time we can consider a dog catcher."

Commission seats left vacant by Mayor Laiolo and Councilman Falge were filled last night. The Mayor appointed Ted Ferhing to the Planning Commission and Don Paul Medalie to the Cultural Commission.

The Council set June 5 as the date for Public hearings on the amendments to the ordinance permitting limited motel use in the R-1 district. The Carmel Citizen's Committee suggested word revisions in three places. Where the ordinance sets the date for recognizing the motels, the change is from prior to January 1, 1967, to prior and on January 1, 1967. Another change is instead of reconstruction or addition to any lodging unit, it is proposed to read the reconstruction or construction. The last recommendation under site area reads that there must be 1500 square feet per unit for new expansion; instead, the Committee recommends that it read that no expansion is to be permitted.

'Yours, Mine and Ours' Premieres at Cinema 70

Miss Ball primps in her Cinema 70 dressing room.

The beautiful Lucille Ball arrived on the Peninsula last week to help Cinema 70 celebrate the premiere of her latest motion picture, "Yours, Mine and Ours," a story based on Carmel's celebrated Beardsley family (20 children at the last count).

The first showing of the movie, and the appearance of Miss Ball, her producer, director and real husband brought hundreds of her fans to the Del Monte Center theatre.

At exactly 8 p.m. Miss Ball arrived at the theatre in a striking flesh colored evening gown, stepped from her limousine, and was escorted through the crowd to her dressing room where she awaited her call to the Cinema 70 stage.

Before the sold out crowd, she spoke fondly of the Beardsley family and confessed that when she heard the Beardsley story some years back, she became determined to act out the life experiences of the family.

"Yours, Mine and Ours" is currently playing at the Valley Cinema.

OBITUARIES

Greta Laurant Greenleaf, 75, Carmel resident since 1953, died last week. Native of Chicago, she had made her home on Santa Rita street near 5th. Inurnment was held in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea.

'Send Me No Flowers' at Studio

Four of the leading roles in "Send Me No Flowers" opening Friday at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant in Carmel are taken by players from "The Odd Couple" which appeared there last fall. Dick Vreeland, the meticulous Felix of that production, returns this time as George Kimball, a hypochondriac of such magnitude that he not only imagines his early demise, but arranges a second husband for his distraught wife.

Judy Kimball is played by Ginna Bell Beaven, one of the flighty sisters of "The Odd Couple." Two of that show's hard-bitten poker players, James Lancina and Ed Shinbrot, are back as the Kimballs' next door neighbor and their family doctor respectively. Lancina has meanwhile portrayed the wacky magazine editor in "Generation" at the Studio, while Shinbrot was in the "Harvey" cast at the Circle.

Bob Lotz appears as Bert, the old college pal whom George throws at Judy as his own successor. Lotz was last seen at the Studio as Victor Velasco in "Barefoot In The Park" and subsequently appeared in "Luv" at the Circle.

Mr. Akins, the cemetery plot salesman who really loves his work, is in the hands of Milton Hayes who played Hysterium through both runs of "A Funny Thing Happened On The Way To The Forum," at the Studio.

Two newcomers to the stage are Ruth Rankin who appears as "the other woman" in two dream sequences and Walter Rousseau who plays Vito in addition to his duties as stage manager.

Under the direction of Don Osborn, "Send Me No Flowers" is scheduled to run Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights at the Studio through June 15.

Tryouts At Studio

Auditions will be held Sunday at 2:30 and Monday at 7:00 to select casts for the 11th summer musical season of the Studio Theatre.

Slated for summer production are "The Boy Friend" opening June 21 and "Carnival" opening June 28. They will run nightly except Monday in alternate weeks through Labor Day.

Alton Walker Finds Antique "Motor Buggy"

An automobile priced at $395, speedy, economical, noiseless, durable and safe—a child can run it, and 25 to 35 miles per gallon of gasoline.

All of this could have been yours in 1908 when Sears Roebuck was participating in the heyday of motorized buggies. Fractional speeds from 1 to 25 M.P.H. were attained and maintained thru a friction plate transmission so simple it had only about 3 moving parts.

Alton Walker of Pebble Beach recently found one of these marvels near Portland, Oregon and is now disassembling this automobile. It looks just exactly like the "Motor Buggy" it was called in the early 1900's, Mr. Walker plans to have his new find bright, shiny and ready to show and go for the first week in September. Then it will be shown at the Horseless Carriage Club National Tour which will meet at the Holiday Inn. This promises to be a colorful, interesting

The John Geisens Will Live Abroad

Devoted friends of popular John and Micheline Geisen are sorry to hear that they are leaving early in June to live in Europe for a time. It may be a year or it may be longer, but friends are hoping they will get homesick for Carmel before that long.

Micheline was born in France, so they will visit first in Paris her mother, Mme. Renee Martell Benassit, who was here during the Christmas holidays.

Late in July they will spend some time on the island of Sardinia at Costa Esmerelda, recently developed by the Aga Kahn.

Dan Robinson, Micheline's son, who is graduating from Robert Louis Stevenson School, will join them with a friend, Casey Dunham of Pebble Beach, before and after vagabonding about Europe. Dan will probably return in the fall to the Davis Campus of the University of California, unless there is room for him at the Santa Cruz campus.

The Geisens, besides packing, have been in southern California recently visiting Mrs. Leo Nichols, Micheline's daughter and in Tucson, her other daughter, Mrs. N. A. Gonzales.

Musical Comments

There were many Carmelites in the youthful audience which filled the stage as well as the Music Hall to hear Hungarian pianist, Istvan Nadas (pronounced Eesht-vahn Nahdahs) at Monterey Peninsula College last Friday evening.

Some of those spotted were Mrs. Hascal Stewart, Fred Schaad, the Gilbert Boyers, Esther Longfellow, Mrs. Rosario Mazzeo and of course, Angie Machado, head of the music department at MPC. This was an important concert for music lovers, of the many fine offerings by the Community Services of the college. Nadas is well known to Bach Festival audiences.

Dr. Nadas plays in the grand European manner of the last century, his hawk-like profile expressing all the profundities, the subtleties and the joy of the music he was playing. There was the solidity which come only from long and unremitting practice, the artistry which joins contrasting sections with grace, the power, which, unfortunately, made one long for a better piano for him to play on. (Several in the audience wondered why he had not been presented by the Carmel Music Society on the fine piano at Sunset).

For all his technical brilliance, Dr. Nadas' playing expressed an inner warmth which radiated from the Chromatic Fantasy and Fugus by Bach and seemed to control each phrase. While there were heads bobbing with involvement in the rhythm, his interpretation was far from metronomic. In the Bach as well as the Beethoven Sonata in A Flat Major, Opus 110, he played with great flexibility of tempo. For fugue buffs, it was wonderful to hear two great fugues on one program . . . every note clean and solid, the main theme never lost.

The Bartok Suite, Opus 14, after the intermission, was an interesting contrast. Nadas tempered the bite of Bartok's modern harmonies and occasional abruptness with the same warmth that pervaded the first half of his program. Since he studied with Bartok, presumably this is the way his music should be played.

He ended the program as Franz Liszt would have, with flourish and bravura, with his Sonata in B minor. This piece with its contrasts, containing both the sentiment or sentimentality of a Liebestraum, the little runs, Liszt's musical trademarks, and the dramatic flair of many of his big numbers, seemed a bit long and somewhat dated to some. For others it was great, as evidenced by the standing ovation at the end.

His young audience and the reviewer delighted in the two encores, The Two part Invention in E flat by Bach, and the first movement of the Beethoven Sonata 109.

Prof. Nadas is leaving for New Zealand next month where he will perform the cycle of 32 Beethoven sonatas, to give you an idea of his tremendous repertoire.

Bates Hosts His Show At Art Association

Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bates hosted an opening party for his one-man show at the Carmel Art Association, in the Beardsley Room.

There is an impressive array of abstractions, strong in feeling, bold in color done in oil paint lavishly applied with brush and palette knife. There are also two pieces of contemporary sculpture, one in wood and one in combined stone and wood.

Clarence Bates is a native of Oregon. He has lived in Carmel for 20 years. His wife, Kitty, is one of the attractive workers at the Art Association.

Santa Catalina School in Monterey is fortunate to have Mr. Bates as head of its Art Department.

Mr. Bates has had one-man shows in Salem, Oregon, New York and Salinas. He has won awards for his painting at the Monterey County Fair and for his sculpture at the Northwest Artists' Annual in Seattle and the California Auunal at Oakland.

Mr. Bates' show will run during the entire month of May. During the same time, a new group show by members of the Art Association will have been juried for the main gallery. This always covers a wide range of styles and subjects for the viewer to choose from.

"Fleurs de Lis" by Elwood Graham and "Rainy Day" by Edward Norton Ward are two favorites

Mr. and Mrs. Gregg King of Carmel and Mrs. Roland Tavernetti who recently moved here from Salinas are shown admiring Clarence Bates' "Gull Song."

Group enjoying the Opening Party.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bates

Art Critic At Carmel Museum

Mr. Alfred Frankenstein will deliver a guest-lecture at the Carmel Museum of Art on Dolores Street, Friday evening, May 17 at 8 o'clock.

Noted as both art and music critic for the San Francisco Chronicle since 1934, Mr. Frankenstein will discuss early American precisionist painters. His subject is "Sleuthing Among Still Lifes," developing the theme of his well-known book, "After the Hunt." A new edition of it is being published this fall by the University of California Press.

Admission to the lecture will be by reservation only; it is free to museum members, and the public is welcome for a small donation.

Carmel Artists In Major Competition

Donald Teague, N. A. of Carmel and Rollin Pickford, Jr., Carmel Art Association members, are represented in the international competitive exhibition for painting and sculpture in Marietta Ohio.

New watercolors and oils by Teague are being shown at the Perry House Art Gallery on Van Buren street in Monterey.

William Stone Exhibits

As a part of Teaching Career Month, the work of William Stone, art department head at Carmel High School, is being featured in a two-man show with Dolores Stimpson Bowman at the Seaside City Hall.

Students of Sam Colburn, well-known member of the Carmel Art Association are being exhibited in the art gallery of the New Monterey Neighborhood Center.

Pop Concert Great Success

The Monterey County Symphony's annual Pops Concert last Sunday was blessed with a beautiful sunny day for its international flavored musical tour. Before the concert the green lawns at the Fairgrounds were dotted with picnickers enjoying the gay and informal family affair.

Conductor Jan de Jong and the members of the orchestra gave generously of themselves and presented a varied program of music from around the world.

Mrs. James Doud, at right, snapped colored Polaroid pictures of participants for $1.00 each. After deducting the costs the profits will go to the Monterey County Symphony Guild fund.

Town House Show

Still Life and landscapes in oils are presently being shown by Mrs. Art Thorsen at the Carmel Foundation Town House and will continue to be hung there throughout the month of May. The Town House is on Lincoln at 8th and is open to the public from 10-5 Monday through Friday.

We may live without poetry, music and art;
We may live without conscience and live without heart;
We may live without friends; we may live without books;
But civilized man can not live without cooks.
He may live without books,
what is knowledge but grieving?
He may live without hope, what is hope but deceiving?
He may live without love, what is passion but pining?
But where is the man that can live without dining?

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

"How Good It Is at the Bazaar" at Carmel's Cypress Lodge, Lincoln and 8th

Come to the Bazaar; That's where you'll find French fare at its best on Saturday, May 11. Actually the food is to sustain you while you are trying to make up your minds which is the better bargain . . . that exquisite lamp over there or the beautiful painting donated by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Courteol, authorities on all things artistic.

The many booths will contain attractive and sought-after bric-a-brac, jewelry, household ornaments and books . . . among the latter is the popular "C'est si bon," the cook book put out by members of the local Alliance for the benefit of the French language scholarship. This year the money raised will award the Travel and Study Scholarship to France and a Summer Scholarship at the Monterey Institute of Foreign Studies to a local qualified student of the French language. So . . . this brings us back to la belle cuisine francaise which everyone knows means mighty good eating.

At the bazaar, lunch will be served between 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. . . . which certainly gives a wide range of time to browse around, yet be on the alert to buy intriguing offerings while enjoying made-to-order sandwiches of open-face French bread that is spread with real pate de foie and a choice of homemade pastries with coffee or tea. There will be a variety of sandwiches prepared by the French and American members of our cultural (and non-political) Alliance. To help those to help themselves to genuine and gourmet cuisine at its best, Party Plans is taking some choice recipes from "C'est si bon" and putting them together to make up a charmingly simple luncheon or souper intime (this means an informal get-together) prepared by the hostess minus help . . . excerpting from this clever booklet. And the latter is to be sold at a very modest fee at the Kermesse (Bazaar to you!) come May 11, all proceeds of which go to the scholarship! Que c'est bon!

Mousse de Foie de Volaille

One lb. chicken livers; ½ cup butter; 1 cup whipping cream; salt, pepper, bay leaf; thyme; 1 lemon slice.

In appropriate amount of water, drop the herbs, 1 t. salt, lemon slice. Bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes. Drop the livers in the water and increase heat. Let boil gently 4 minutes, drain. Put livers and butter in electric blender, blend and cool. Whip the cream, fold carefully into liver mixture. Keep refrigerated until serving time.

Party Plans owes this recipe to the kindness of Mme. Henri Monteagle, the wife of the French Cultural Attache now in San Francisco.

La Gougere
(Burgundian Cheese Pastry)

Two cups milk; ¼ lb. butter (1 stick); ¾ t. salt; ½ t. pepper; ¾ cup flour; 8 eggs; ¼ lb. Swiss cheese; 2 T. heavy cream.

Heat together in a saucepan: the milk, butter, salt and pepper. When mixture reaches boiling point, remove from fire for a minute or two. Remove from fire again and add the eggs, two at a time, working in each pair of eggs before adding more. Then add finely diced cheese and cream. Pour the paste, which you have mixed together smoothly, into two buttered flan or custard molds and place them on a cookie sheet. Brush a little beaten egg over the tops. Bake in 325° F. oven about 40 minutes. Do not open oven door while the gougere is rising. It should emerge brown, crusty and puffed! (if it doesn't, it is still good to eat . . . a bit like our popovers.)

This typically French recipe is from Madeleine Dowdakin, an expert cuisiniere and the general chairman of the coming bazaar.

Salade Nicoise

Two butter lettuce; 1 can green string beans; 1 can best white tuna; 2 small cans whole anchovies; 2 hard cooked eggs; 1 can large pitted ripe olives; 2 large firm tomatoes; garlic; green onions; 2 large potatoes, boiled and cut into medium slices.

Prepare a sauce vinaigrette of 2 T. wine vinegar; 6 T. olive oil; salt and pepper to taste; green onions cut finely; 1 mashed garlic bud.

Pour half of this sauce over the potatoes as soon as boiling water has been drained and they are still hot. Put potatoes in center of large platter and decorate around and on top with other ingredients. Just before serving, sprinkle with rest of vinaigrette sauce. Absolutely delicious and often served at the charming home of Germaine Olivie, the Alliance's Scholarship Treasurer.

Meat Crescents

One T. butter; ½ cup finely chopped onion; ½ lb. finely ground beef; 1 t. chopped parsley; 2 T. chopped fresh mushrooms; salt, pepper and any herbs or seasoning desired. Bread dough or 2 tubes of raised milk biscuits; can of milk.

Melt butter, add onion and brown lightly. Add remaining ingredients and simmer briefly. If tube biscuits are used, cut each biscuit in half. Press each piece to make 3-inch squares. Put a t. of filling in centers and roll into small crescents. Place on greased cookie sheet. Cover with a cloth and let stand in warm place 10 min. Brush crescents with canned milk and bake at 425° F. about 15 minutes. Watch to see that bottoms do not burn. Serve warm or cold. Grand with your favorite drinks.

This is a favorite recipe of Phyllis Jervey, Publicity Chairman for l'Alliance Francaise.

Carmen Ellison of Monterey Saved $2.02 on one trip to SAFEWAY DISCOUNT

To check the facts we asked Carmen Ellison of Monterey to compare food prices in this area. From her own shopping list she shopped at Safeway Discount. Her list of food cost $20.83. Then, on the same day, she bought the identical list of items at another supermarket. At that store, the total was $22.85. That's a saving of $2.02 at Safeway Discount. If you'd like more proof, make your own comparison. See how quality and savings go hand in hand at Safeway Discount.

Note: Mrs. Ellison's test was authenticated by an independent research firm.

Amsterdam

Our arrival in Amsterdam was marked by a beautiful day. We checked into our hotel rooms, then started out on foot to see Amsterdam. It was a good way to keep us awake after having flown for about 17 hours in bright sunlight.

After our foot-tour of the city, we boarded a boat for a ride through the picturesque canals. This was very relaxing, so much so, that all six of us dozed throughout the trip. We did manage to be awake at different intervals so we could brief one another on the interesting sights we missed.

Amsterdam is a busy city where you take your life in your hands every time you cross the street, and sometimes just when you're standing on the sidewalk! Everyone who isn't in a car is on a motorcycle or a bicycle, and each one seems bent on eliminating as many members of the human race as he can. It would be hilarious, if it weren't so frightening to see us California pedestrians, used to having the right of way, jumping and hopping out of the way of all moving vehicles! We can stand on our balcony and watch all the drivers run into one another and narrowly miss the others! The police and the ambulance go by at regular intervals making a funny beeping noise that doesn't sound at all like a siren.

Today we went to 8:30 Mass at a beautiful church across the street called St. Nicholas. The Mass was said in Dutch with some French and Latin thrown in, and the only thing they said in English was, there would be a 25c seat charge and a second collection! We knew then we were in the right church!

After church we took a bus trip to Volendam, followed by a boat trip across the Zuydersea. This was especially interesting to see the people in their native costumes and to see the lovely green countryside punctuated with canals, neat farm houses, (where the people and the farm animals live under one roof,) and the black and white cattle and woolly sheep contentedly munching the green grass which is everywhere. It's amazing what the Dutch people have done to make fertile farm land, which is lower than the sea. The beautiful new airport is 19 feet below sea level! A project is on now whereby vast areas of the Zuydersea are being reclaimed and made into fertile farm lands. In the end, only a small portion of this sea will remain to be used for sailing and recreation. The fisherman of the area now have to go out into the North Sea to fish, so this important industry is gradually dying out. It's amazing to us to think of an area like this that has so much water it's a menace, while in Hong Hong, the main concern is how to get enough water! Too bad they can't divide it up somehow! On our way back from the bus trip, we stopped at a farm to see how Edam cheese is made, and we saw the cleanest barn I've ever had the good fortune to view.

We decided to see Anne Frank's House, the Jewish girl who wrote the Diary during the German occupation, while hiding from the Gestapo. It was decided we should ride the trolley, to better acquaint ourselves with the City, so with directions obtained from our Hotel Porter, we set out. The trip to the Frank House was made with dispatch, but when we left there, the plan was to take a trolley to the Museum, to see the Rembrandts, Reubens, etc., which are there. The idea was fine except our guides got their maps turned around, and we ended up covering most of Amsterdam on foot! Both Jacques and I have decided there must be some kind of shoe which is comfortable for walking on cobble stone streets, but in all our shopping we haven't come up with it! The museum, when we finally reached it, was thrilling, but, as usual, we didn't have enough time — we did have enough exercise, however! After boarding the wrong trolley only once on the return trip, we made it back safely to the Hotel.

Tomorrow we leave for the Rhine River trip, after taking a train from Amsterdam to Coblenz.

We have decided it is just as well we are leaving Amsterdam, as the boys made the interesting discovery that the ladies (?) of ill-repute here sit in their front windows on the ground floor, in full view of all passers-by, hopefully eyeing all gentlemen strollers.

Reviews for Young Readers

By Allene Fremier

Two charming picture books have come in this week. AN ANTEATER NAMED ARTHUR, by Bernard Waber has been read by most of the members of the staff and received a high rating. Arthur's mother tells us about him. "Sometimes Arthur doesn't understand. . . . Sometimes Arthur has nothing to do. . . . Sometimes Arthur's room is more than I can believe. . . . Sometimes Arthur forgets. . . ." In other words, Arthur sounds like a regular little boy. The illustrations add to the delight—Arthur's expressions tell just what he's thinking. "See what I mean about Arthur?" is how the book ends. And you do.

THE STORY OF LENGTHWISE, by Ernestine Beyer tells about a bookworm who made his home in a dictionary. He began life among the A's. He would swallow a word and then digest the meaning. At the end of the A's, he went outside, but could not make any friends. He sounded too funny to them. He spoke like this: "Advance, amiable ant! . . . Amazing adventures await!" He returned home to digest the B's, but it was just as sad. "Beautiful big black beetle . . . behold a backward bookworm." But they thought he was showing off. He finally finished the dictionary and settled down with an author, who also loved words.

For the older readers, Irving Werstein has written the exciting story of Denmark's resistance to the Nazis. THAT DENMARK MIGHT LIVE tells how the Danish king refused to rule, the people refused to be ruled. By their united action an underground press service (the only one in Europe) kept in touch with other clandestine newspapers throughout the country; continual sabotage was carried on; the people spirited away most of Denmark's 8,000 Jews to safety in Sweden and together they celebrated D-Day with the Germans still occupying their country. Mr. Werstein makes a fascinating story in history come to life. The Danes, from the very first, extended no hand of friendship to the Germans. They ridiculed and humiliated their oppressors whenever possible. After one such occurrence, a German official cried out to a Danish Cabinet member "Why do your people behave towards us in this fashion?" "Because you are here," the Dane replied calmly."

KOALAS LIVE HERE, by Irgengarde Eberle is pure delight. It is illustrated with photographs of these charming animals. It tells about one family of Koalas and in so doing gives factual information on the way they live. There is a great deal of interest in Australia among the younger school children, as many of the classes are studying it now. This would be an excellent book for added reading, as well as for report material. Its also fun just to leaf through and look at the pictures.

REPORTS FROM RLS

By Chandler Meloy

Foy Takes First In California

Lonnie Foy, a Junior Student on the Honor Roll, took first place in the California State Speech Championships held at Stanford University this past weekend. Jim Russell placed 13th and Bruck Decker took 25th. Foy will attend the National Championship in St. Paul this summer as one of the top 40 speakers in Impromptu in the United States. While the speech team has had a wonderful season, winning more than 200 trophies, this is the highest honor ever accorded a Stevenson student.

Student Elections Starting

It will be Tom Gardner vs. Eric Haas for the student presidency of Stevenson as both boys are now campaigning with old fashioned fire and brimstone. If you think the national campaigns are hot, just standby for some of the oratory of our youth.

Baseball Team has Chance for First

In defeating Junipero last week, the baseball team now has a good chance to take first place in league standings . . . or at least a tie. Lara pitched his second win of the season over the "Cardinals." John Cann and Eric Haas each had two hits. The team then followed this win with a 16-4 pasting of Menlo Prep. Art Lara again won pitching honors.

Golfers Win from Monterey And CAA Championship

The golf team, led by an 83 from George Kelley, took the measure of Monterey High this past week on their "home course" of Spyglass, the final score, 20½-6½. Bob Williams and Jack Booth cinched the match. Other winners for RLS included Alan Yates and Kurt Wolfe. The team also combined to win the C.A.A. championships for the fourth year in a row.

Tennis Team Takes 8th Match

The tennis team took Menlo Prep by a score of 8-3 match wins to mark their 8th team victory of the season in high school play. Marc Haas and John Clancy won praise from Coach Jack Waltz for their outstanding play, as they were backed by winners Ed Scott, Geoff Haynes, Steve Simmons and Mike Lang. Clancy and Scott, along with Haynes and Simmons combined to win the doubles.

Track Team Takes Measure of Carmel

The lightweight track team were victorious against the Carmel lightweights this past weekend as they also defeated San Lorenzo Valley. The varsity took second in the three-way meet to avenge an earlier third place. Sam Perkins, Steve Laney and Joe Todd led the JV's to victory, with outstanding varsity performances by Scott Bullen, Mike Bohman and Mike Eberley. Next for the track teams will be the Coast Athletic Association championships this Saturday at M.P.C. track starting at 10:00 a.m. The public is invited.

Rev. Johnson Is Reassigned

The Reverend Lloyd E. Johnson has notified All Saints' Episcopal Church of his resignation effective July 1, 1968. The assistant rector at the Church since 1966 has been reassigned to St. Mark's cathedral in Salt Lake City where he will become acting dean.

Since coming to the Peninsula Reverend Johnson has been active in the Gateway Center for Retarded Children, the Monterey Peninsula Citizens Coordinating Council, the Peninsula Ministerial Association, Carmel Christian Youth group and the Carmel High 12 Club.

Reverend Johnson received his formal education at Iowa State University and Seabury Western Theological Seminary. He was ordained priest in 1964.

Prof. Coates Retires After 37 Years

After 37 years of teaching at the Naval Postgraduate School, Distinguished Professor Wendell M. Coates, Ronda Road, Pebble Beach, retired recently. At his departure he was honored with a dinner party given by his colleagues at the school.

He joined the faculty of NPGS in 1931, when the school was located at the Naval Academy, Annapolis. In 1947 Prof. Coates became the first chairman of the Aeronautics Department, and remained in that position until 1962.

A member of Sigma Xi and Phi Beta Kappa, he received the title of "Distinguished Professor" two years ago.

Alton Walker Finds Antique Automobile

event when convening owners of one and two cycle autos will dress and parade in the costumes of the pre-1915 era.

About 37 Sears Motor Buggys are known to still be in existence. Twenty years ago, Mr. Walker found and restored another of these cars which he sold to M.G.M. That car was used in the Red Buttons movie Excuse My Dust. It was lost in a river during the making of the picture and Mr. Walker found the studio another.

Another project of Mr. Walker's is the completion of his three and one half years work on a 1914 Oldsmobile Phaeton. It will be shown in this year's Concours d'Elegance at Pebble Beach June 2. This is a massive, seven passenger automobile. It has cast aluminum hub caps and running boards, a German silver radiator like a Rolls Royce.

1914 Oldsmobile Six

Remember this old 1914 Oldsmobile Six? Price FOB in Lansing was $2975 in 1914.

As with every picnic, there were children and dogs and to work off their energy, the kids, dogs and adults too, enjoyed an old favorite "Dodge Ball." When the sun sank over the horizon, everyone gathered about the open fire to swap tales and jokes.

Not for a long time have we seen so many cupboards and so much tiled counter space as in its sunny kitchen. And only $36,500!

THE INK ISN'T DRY on our listing of an immaculate and lovely home in Carmel Knolls and you can be the first to see it! A step-down living room and large family or dining room are as sparkling as new. It won't last lang!

IF YOU NEED SPACE for your family or entertaining, or just restful living, call and arrange to see our Meadows listing. ten through high school. Next month the English committee will make recommendations. A new spelling series, more effective, will be introduced next year, he said, as well as the Roberts grammar at grade 3. Following that there will be a foreign language committee recommendation.

The school board voted to appoint an Assistant Superintendent for Instructional Services who would develop a consistent and powerful instructional program, assist the professional staff in the production and selection of materials, and give leadership to in-service training.

It decided to appoint full-time teaching principals at Woods and Carmelo Schools, to avoid having one principal serve two widely-separated schools. Edwin McCurry has been serving in this capacity for the past year, taking the place of Anna Kohner.

Tenure was granted Henry Chapple, vice-principal at Middle School, Susan Estes, Monty Feekes, Warren Fishburn, Janet Hurley, James Kennaday, Barry Lastinger, Wallace LeValley (reassigned to experimental English classes following his resignation from teaching journalism), Peggy Mervine, Alan Oppenhuizen and William Stone, art director at CHS.

The resignations of Robert E. Hoover of Tularacitos, as well as those of Miss Judith Penwell, Mr. Robert Knych and Mrs. Betty Miller, who have been on leave of absence, were accepted.

Next meeting was set for May 22.

OBITUARIES

Henry August Teschke, 71, whose home was with his daughter, Mrs. Charles N. (Betty J.) Pearson, of Trevis Way of Atherton for 21 years, died last week. His wife, Dorothy, died in 1958, the year of his retirement. He was a member of the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula, the Carmel Lodge 680 F&AM, and the Monterey Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star.

He is survived by another daughter, and six grandchildren. The Rev. Burkert Cree officiated at his services. Masonic rites included pallbearers Clifford Bailey, Norman Winslow, Robert Spencer, William Bjornvold and Paul McKinstry of the Carmel Lodge.

Contributions in his name may be made to the Community Church of the Monterey Peninsula or the Shriners' Hospital Crippled Children's Found.

Marguerite Nowell, Scenic Road, formerly of Stockton, died suddenly in Puerto Rico, May 1. Surviving are her husband, Nelson Nowell, two daughters, Natialie Goethals and Barbara Jackson and six grandchildren. Mrs. Nowell was a member of the Community Hospital Auxiliary, the Monterey History and Art Association and a patron of the Carmel Museum of Art. Memorials may be made to the Community Hospital Building Fund.

Dorothea Phelps Cunningham, 58, wife of Prof. W. Peyton Cunningham of the Naval Postgraduate School faculty died last week. Native of Connecticut, she and her husband had lived in Carmel Valley since 1952.

She was a member of Carmel Presbyterian Church, and was active in the Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services organization and was a charter member of the Navy Staff Wives Club. She also leaves a son, William, Jr. and three grandchildren.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SUNDAY SERMON

"Adam and Fallen Man" is the title of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Ephesians: "Awake thou that sleepest, and arise from the dead, and Christ shall give thee light."

The Lesson-Sermon also contains these lines from the denominational textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Son of the Virgin-mother unfolded the remedy for Adam, or error; and the Apostle Paul explains this warfare between the idea of divine power, which Jesus presented, and mythological material intelligence called energy and opposed to Spirit."

Symphony Guild Annual Meeting

The Peninsula Chapter of the Monterey County Symphony Guild held its annual meeting on Tuesday at the Park Lane in Monterey. In the election of officers, Mrs. Cecil Barker was reelected as president; Mrs. Robert E. Work as recording secretary; Mrs. John T. Bohlman as corresponding secretary and Mrs. Allman Cook as treasurer.

The treasurer's report revealed that the Guild has a healthy balance of over $11,000, most of which will be given to the Symphony next fall.

Conductor Jan de Jong presented a very informative preview of next Tuesday's concert. It will be a program of dramatic music, opening with Overture No. 3 to Leonore by Beethoven. Parable of Death by Lukas Foss, known as the bad boy of America's music is next on the program. Along with the orchestra there will be a narrator, a tenor, solo and chorus. Third on the program will be Psalmus Hungaricus by Kodaly. This selection also has a tenor solo and chorus.

The finale will send everyone home humming the beautiful and exciting melodies of the Suite from Der Rosenkavalier by Richard Strauss.

HIGH MEADOW FEATURES VIEW LOTS

Don't give up yet, there are still available on the Peninsula building sites with panoramic views of the ocean, Point Lobos and the mountains. Over 50 magnificent homesites are left in HIGH MEADOWS, each with its own personal view.

HIGH MEADOWS, developed by Carmel Realty Company, is ideally situated between Carmel, Monterey and Pacific Grove. The newly-completed entrance is an extension of Carpenter Street and becomes High Meadow Drive after crossing Highway 1.

HIGH MEADOW was such an excellent site that the architectural firm Hall and Goodhue became inspired to the point that their plans for its development ultimately won them national acclaim in Sunset Magazine.

The entire property rambles about 172 acres and is being developed in two phases. The first phase takes in just over 100 acres, of which over 49 acres are in permanent greenbelt. The second phase will contain over 35 acres of greenbelt.

The subdivision is within the Carmel Unified School District and the streets, sewers and sidewalks are in and paid for. All the utilities are underground and the site is sunnier than many Monterey Peninsula ocean-view areas.

After architectural details are approved, the developers will turn over their control to a committee selected by the homeowners themselves.

Sales agents report that sales are going far better than expected.
